

CORRY ROBERTSON

Helping leaders create healthy organizational cultures that turbocharge engagement, retention and performance.

Montreal, Canada

SPEAKING TOPICS

Leading Virtual Teams in a Covid-19 Era - Tools, tips and best practices

Turbocharge Engagement and Retention using Coaching as a Leadership Style

Know Your Blind Spots - Even the best leaders fail without self-awareness

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

Corry Robertson is a Professional Certified Coach and a leading global expert on organizational culture, engagement and retention, with a client list that includes Fortune 100 companies.

Corry has built a reputation for helping leaders understand people management.

Over her 20+ year career, Corry has helped hundreds of organizations develop high-calibre leaders and expand rapidly without diluting the culture.

Corry is also the founder of The Coaching Academy for Leaders, offering ICF accredited programs.

AS SEEN IN

- So You Think You Can Speak
- Your Workplace Conference
- ChannelNext Conference
- The Reinvention Summit Canada
- John Molson School of Business

REEL

Coaching For Performance - Your Workplace Conference

Work Is Not Working - So You Think You Can Speak

PERSONAL HIGHLIGHTS

Corry lives in Saint-Lazare, Quebec with her husband, two teenage sons, their beloved dog, and cat. She can often be found at the barn with her horse.

Questions? Book a quick call for a virtual coffee to discuss your speaking engagement.

My real-time availability is here: www.TalkWithCorry.com

www.corryrobertson.com